President Robert S. Marshall Names Outstanding Service Award Recipients

The President's Award for outstanding administrative and faculty service was presented at the Trustee-Faculty Dinner this past October, 1978. The recipients of this year's award are Catherine Mary Stalteri, OSF, Registrar, and Professor John Masterson, English Department.

Daemen College President, Dr. Robert S. Marshall initiated the award last year to recognize superior service to the Daemen College community. The award is given annually to a member of the faculty and an administrative employee who have consistently demonstrated exceptional service to Daemen College. Last year, the award went to M. Angelice Vogt, OSF, Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer, and Dr. Alexander Pleshkewych of the Natural Science Department.

John Masterson, an Associate Professor of English, has been on staff since the College was born in 1948. At that time, the entire College faculty and staff numbered ten men and women. A total of 44 day students attended classes in either Rosary or Serra Hall.

Two of John Masterson’s more significant contributions to the campus community include the Beta Rho Chapter of Lambda Iota Tau, This is an international literature honor society which was established under his direction. Mr. Masterson also worked closely with Sr. Georgia Dunn in helping to establish the Delta Epsilon Sigma, National Honor Society.

Catherine Mary Stalteri, OSF, Registrar, has been associated with Daemen College for 18 years. She received her Bachelor of Science degree here and then went on to Xavier University to earn a Masters in Business Administration. Sr. Catherine Mary has done several internal studies at Daemen College, the topics ranging from space utilization plans to enrollment studies. The results have been significant improvement in the day-to-day operation of the College.

Both were extremely grateful for the honor of receiving the Award, Sr. Catherine, upon being notified, accepted the Award in the name of the entire staff of the Registrar’s Office. John Masterson stated that he would continue to work to live up to the goals set forth by Sr. Georgia Dunn.
Dear Alumni and Friends of Daemen College:

As the recently appointed Alumni Director and as an Alumnus myself, allow me to take this opportunity to share some of my initial perceptions since returning to Daemen College.

I have found that the correspondence between this office and the Alumni-at-large demonstrates an unusually strong relationship. This is a relationship which strengthens our College. An examination of the Ivy League schools, colleges and universities considered among the strongest in the United States, reveals the same type of relationship among their Alumni. Many of these institutions of higher learning are centuries old. Their Alumni relationships have had time to grow and mature. Obviously, we are doing well in this regard.

Last fall marked Daemen College’s 30th birthday. We are emerging from our youth towards a more seasoned adulthood. Within a relatively young college, there is rarely significant growth without growing pains.

My primary concern is for the growing number of dedicated Alumni who wish to participate. We will find more ways for you to do so. The individuals who fall into this category are the doers, the people who are used to transforming their goals from dreams to reality. With your help, I will work to reestablish our regional Alumni Chapters. These Chapters will be vital components of the Alumni Association, and can play a key role in determining the positive path and direction which the College pursues.

In conclusion, I encourage the individual Alumni and the Association itself to become more introspective, so that long-range plans can be better defined and clarified. The quality of education the College provides and its respective accomplishments will become increasingly dependent upon the collective, integrated efforts of the growing ranks of Alumni. The diverse skills and talent of nearly 4,000 graduates can help the administration and faculty make this institution a leader among colleges and universities throughout the entire country in addition to Western New York.

I’d like to invite all of you, to join me in looking to the future as a period of progressive growth and development for Daemen College.

Sincerely,

Brian Wettlauffer
Director, Alumni Relations
PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Dear Alumni,

It pleases me to report the successful programming, corresponding and fund raising events we have experienced to date. It is mid-year and the Alumni Board's goal--the embracing of the total alumni in supportive action for the good of Daemen College--is being realized.

Many of you have responded warmly and positively to the communications you have received from our Alumni Office. Thank you for keeping in touch. It is rewarding to know you are with us.

The faculty and Alumni Board are presently preparing for an educational up-date of academic challenges at Daemen. This program will exemplify the educational trends in today's society. Members of the faculty look forward to up-dating you on current trends in their respective fields, especially the way those trends are reflected in research and courses at Daemen. For those of you in Western New York, don't miss the opportunity to return to Daemen for this event, Monday, April 30 from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m.

The Annual Homecoming will be in the Fall of '79. The Spring season seems to be too busy a time for us to reunite.

The Annual Giving Campaign has gotten off to a good beginning with a Phonothon held last November 4th and 5th which realized nearly 400 pledges made on behalf of restoring Rosary Hall, the oldest building on our campus. "Give now, that the season of giving may be yours."

Our success as your Alumni representatives is dependent upon your constant support in any way possible: the giving of your time, ideas and financial contributions.

Without you, my fellow Alumni members, we cannot hope to realize our goals. Please continue to support and encourage the excellence of Daemen College.

Sincerely,

Marguerite J. Battaglia, '67
President
Alumni Board of Governors

EXTENDED STUDIES, Contact Terry at 839-3600, ext. 224

Credit-free programs are beginning now; call the Extended Studies Office to find out what is being offered and when.

SPECIAL NOTE: We are planning to continue with the Writers Workshop which ran last summer. New topics are planned, which we expect to include - non-fiction writing, writing for magazines, poetry, etc.

Please remember: the Extended Studies Office is interested in speaking to employers about educational opportunities available here, as well as in-plant training. We would appreciate receiving names of training personnel where you or your spouses work, so that we may send information on the evening and weekend program. THANK YOU!

A special THANK YOU to those alumnae who helped staff our Continuing Education Week display at Eastern Hills Mall, January 8-13. We appreciate your help very much!
DAEMEN BOASTS TOP-NOTCH SKATER/STUDENT IN JOHN TIGUE!

John Tigue is a full-time student at Daemen, yet his interests go far beyond those typical of a college atmosphere. John started playing hockey and figure skating when he was six years old. As he grew older his interests grew more towards figure skating and he decided to concentrate on that area. That has led John, who is 19 years old to be an amateur skater! Though it is not at all surprising, since skating is a common practice in the Tigue household. John’s younger sister is also a figure skater and his mother was the first lady president of the Buffalo Skating Club (the current president of the BSC is Father Ed Fisher who was at one time associated with Daemen College).

John rises every day at 6 a.m. to skate a few hours before classes, and on most days skates again in the evening - “Unless,” according to John “I have too much homework to do,” John admits that a lot of competitor skaters take a year or two away from school, but, John puts college first, as much as he likes skating.

As a member of the Amherst Skating Club and the Buffalo Skating Club (now celebrating its 50th anniversary) he represents Buffalo in many major competitions. John has competed in a Regional Competition called the North Atlantic, involving four states and has, as of December, 1978 qualified to go on to a competition called the Easterns which is the top skaters from one-third of the United States. If, in the Easterns, he places in the top three, he will then be qualified to compete in the Nationals which is the competition between the top skaters from the entire United States.

John has won over 60 trophies and medals for competition and also skates in exhibitions as a soloist at various area ice shows. A skater must pass a series of tests in compulsory figures, free skating, ice dancing and pair skating. The tests start at a preliminary level and go through eight levels of testing with the eighth being the gold medal test, John is presently a Triple Gold Medalist in the United States and Canada.

Besides being a gold medalist, he also has a Bronze Pair Medal and expects to have a Gold Medal in Dance this winter.

John’s other interests include music and playing the piano and organ in a local rock group. It takes a special person with a lot of energy to accomplish all these things, especially doing so with such excellence!

DAEMEN COLLEGE BOARD OF GOVERNORS UNVEILS PLANS FOR AN ALUMNI UPDATE!

"The Association has never been offered a program of this scope or magnitude," claims Sylvia V. Fredericks, '63, Chairman of the event.

Together with her committee, Mrs. Fredericks has been working extensively through the Academic Dean's office in arranging for the best available faculty participation and program topics to be included in the Update. The event will be held on Monday, April 30, 1979 from 7:00 - 10:00 p.m. in Duns Scotus Hall.

The program slate shall consist of 16 different topics in the fields ranging all the way from the allied Health Sciences to Theatre Arts. Every guest will have the opportunity of attending three of the sessions which shall be running concurrently and offered in a seminar-type fashion.

The Update concept in alumni programming is very popular among colleges and universities throughout the country since it not only allows alumni an opportunity to be reintroduced to their college and some of the people that are associated with it, but also gives them the chance to learn of current trends in their respective fields.

A brochure containing all of the details has been constructed with an RSVP mechanism and will be mailed out to prospective guests, in order to accommodate all of those wishing to attend.

ALUMNI PERSPECTIVES – "If Higher Education is costly these days, what price do we pay for Ignorance!"

With all of the recent debate over the value of a college degree, it is encouraging to learn that for many people, their college experience is continuing to serve them and subsequently others, sometimes years after they've graduated.

Becoming involved in the Alumni Admissions Program like Judy Kilroy, or using your education to improve your community as Sally Goodson has done, are two excellent methods of reaffirming your faith, commitment and support to the principles of higher education.

Involved Alumni have remembered that their college career shaped or molded their lives to become more fulfilling, creative and more sensitive to the needs of others. With a small amount of introspection, most alumni realize that the foundation of their personal pool of talents, skills and abilities were developed during this period of time. The truly conscientious individuals are wise enough to know that these attributes and the respective success they bring were not developed to hoard jealously, but to spread and share with others.

The true value of a college education is not put to the test by "finding a job," or immediate employment after graduation (although some of our more recent alumni may take exception). For a new graduate, this is and should be a top priority. Certainly, attention should be devoted to such characteristics as the ability to compromise, talk and think things out systematically, deal with other human beings effectively, and with sensitivity, not to mention traits such as resourcefulness, problem solving, coping with stress, etc.

This article features two alumni, both individuals with totally diverse life experiences, since leaving college. The underlying message appears to be that "no one can take it away from you." Their respective stories illustrate beautifully a few of the countless benefits pursuit of higher education can bring. The exciting thing to note is that Daemen College is still providing it, and will continue to give current students the tools they need to become productive, positive elements in our society.
Judy Jenkins Kilroy, ’61, and her husband, Richard, a Canisius College graduate of 1961, live in Holliston, Massachusetts. They have two daughters and a son. The eldest daughter, Karen, is currently a freshman at Marian High School, a Catholic prep school. Although obviously very busy with career and family, Judy has made herself available to actively participate in all of the different areas of the Daemen College Alumni Admissions Program. The following letter to the Response c/o QED Math Club, explains why she is so supportive of her college:

“Dear Response:

Keep up the good work! My RHC Math degree and firm foundation has endured and flourished since 1961 (in the ‘good old days’). I’ve kept my finger in the pie since semi-retirement from programming in ’64, by tutoring high school math until resuming my computer career in 1976. At this time, I’m employed by Bose Corporation of Framingham, which develops and manufactures stereo and bi-fi equipment with emphasis on high technology development of audio systems. My position is Systems Analyst for the Engineering Department. My work draws heavily on my RHC math, Logic and Economics background. It is also very refreshing to be the only woman professional in the Engineering Department.

Without RHC, Sister Marion, Sister Justin, Mrs. Maier and Sister Paula, this would not have been possible. My degree is not in Computer Science (it wasn’t alive in ’61), but my RHC Math degree has made it all possible.

The foresight of a few has been a fulfillment of many!

Regards,
Judy Jenkins Kilroy”

Sally Gleason Goodson is an Alumnae from the Class of ’65. She has been actively involved in serving her community and the people in it for over 10 years. Space has been devoted under CLASS NEWS for some of her most recent achievements. In addition, she has worked politically for local, state and national candidates. She was instrumental in bringing a Meals on Wheels Program to Nutley, having spent two years working to correct related problems faced by Senior Citizens in the areas of health and housing. In the following piece of correspondence with the Response, Sally traces her thoughts from before college to the present:

“Dear Response:

I thought I would put some thoughts in letter form. I hope you will find them useful.

I moved to 18 Washington Highway, which is directly across from RHC, in 1950. As I grew up, Rosary Hill was also growing. I can remember playing by Fatima Lake many times. Our family babysitter, Bernadette De Marie, attended and graduated from Rosary Hill in the ’50’s. I always admired Bernie. While attending Amherst High School, I always knew I would be going on to college and I always knew it would be at Rosary Hill.

A representative came to Amherst from Rosary Hill and I was most impressed. She only reaffirmed my goal.

The small class sizes at RHC allowed for much discussion and I truly feel I learned each subject to the fullest.

In my junior year, I applied to the City of New York to attend a summer program designed to inform students of the various social services available to New Yorkers. Over 1,000 students from all over the country applied for only 200 spaces. I sent my references from RHC and was granted one of the openings.

Sociology was my major and social work was of paramount interest to me. I was placed at the New York City Welfare Dept, in Harlem on the East Side. This was the summer of the 1964 riots in Harlem. What I saw of the people and their despair had a profound effect on my life. My education prepared me intellectually for the reality of the human suffering I was seeing. Although I was above all that I saw, because of my education and background, the reality saddened me and it was then that I knew that there ‘bad to be a better way’ to solve the many social problems. If I couldn’t solve them myself, at least I was going to try. There is a framed saying that I have had since graduation that I often ponder:

‘Cast forth thy Act, thy Word, into the ever-living, ever-working universe; it is a seed grain that cannot die; unnoticed today, it will be found flourishing as a banyan grove after a thousand years.’ — Carlyle.

After graduation, I was married and my husband and I moved to a small town, 12 miles from NYC. I knew I could do things here that would make a difference, so I became involved and have stayed involved these past 13 years.

An educated woman is a valuable asset to a community, if she just volunteers her time and talent. Rosary Hill gave me pride in myself and my abilities, to bow to no man (or woman), to stand up for my beliefs. To be involved is to keep learning. It feels good to know what has to be done and, because of my scholastic background, to be able to get it done. I cannot imagine not working on one social project or another. There are so many avenues of social concern one can be involved in and not enough fiscal dollars to pay for the needed input. A volunteer has an important place in today’s society.

Each social project leads to a new one. As I read and work in one area, I find information that shapes the answers (or further questions) for another social problem. I am an optimist when I say, ‘there is always a way.’ There really is! Rosary Hill helped me to see this. I am sincerely grateful.

Sincerely,

Sally”

Admissions Office Seeks

"Alumni Admissions Program Representatives"

The Admissions Office is expanding its efforts into new areas throughout the Northeastern United States in an effort to meet with highly qualified students. In Spring 1979, our Admissions Counselors will be attending programs in the areas listed on the schedule below. If during our travels our staff can be of any assistance to you in meeting with your friends or relatives, please contact us and arrangements can be made.

Our Admissions Staff encourages suggestions from the Alumni for ways in which we can better serve students interested in Daemen College. If you have some thoughts which you would like to share, please contact Mr. Peter W. Stevens, Director of Admissions.

In the last issue of our paper, our Admissions Alumni Program was introduced and many alumni decided to participate by forwarding the Membership Form. Hoping to give each interested member an opportunity to participate in assisting in the admissions effort of the College, we have included another application below, which we encourage you to complete and forward at your earliest convenience.

Thank you for your help.

DAEMEN COLLEGE ATHLETICS — MEETING A GROWING NEED WITHIN THE COMMUNITY

Located in a metropolitan area thriving in amateur and professional athletics, Daemen College is progressing rapidly in the fields of intercollegiate and intramural sports.

Daemen, formerly Rosary Hill College, has abandoned the minor league status of some private schools and stepped to the forefront of National Association for Intercollegiate Athletic (NAIA) competition in Western New York.

Many factors were involved in this athletic progress. About two years ago, the school's Board of Trustees approved budget provisions which created the new full-time position of athletic director.

Daemen's new leader is Ken Murray, formerly of Brock University of Canada. Murray said last season marked the first time in the college's history the men's varsity basketball team was recognized by the NAIA.

It was one of several to play in a National Little College Athletic Association tournament last season and finished in second place.

Court leader was Joe Brown, ranked 16th in the nation and selected an All-American candidate. The team finished 21-5 in its first year of top-notch play.

"Progress such as this for a team so young is incredible," said Murray. "Most colleges end up spending years building a team capable of this type of performance.

"It is the drive, energy and dedication of the Daemen students, both male and female, which influences our accomplishments the most."

Also leading Daemen to the athletic spotlight is the women's basketball squad. It has been sanctioned by the New York State Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) since 1977.

"The widely growing interest in women's sports throughout the country will eventually help stabilize our women's team," Murray said, "Our team is experiencing growing pains, Yet the sport is on the upswing. More persons are finally admitting female athletes work as hard and can be as fiercely competitive as men."
In addition to these highly regarded teams, Daemen offers softball for women. It too is sanctioned by the AIAW.

In the fall, Daemen will offer men's varsity soccer and will be sanctioned by the NAIA. There are plans to consider the possibility of having men's and women's varsity golf, tennis and baseball. These are long-range plans and three to five years from reality.

A more immediate possibility is cross country. The inexpensive running sport can include a large number of persons at once. It may be realized by the fall of this year.

Yet not every athletically-minded college student is interested in the level of competition of a varsity sport. Daemen's answer is an expanded intramural program at the Amherst campus.

This popular aspect of athletics includes bowling, basketball, and co-ed volleyball. Student interest is at an all-time high.

Athletic Director Murray had a word on this aspect of campus involvement.

"During the fall of 1978, more than 80 students, faculty and administrative personnel participated in intramurals without the advantage of a home facility. This not only shows enthusiasm, but also dedication," he said.

An added benefit of the intramural program is the communication and friendship it fosters. An 'esprit de corps' develops on the field and court, longer lasting than the thrill of victory.

In addition to better physical health, the value of quality athletics lies in the effect it has upon the persons involved.

Whatever the sport, Daemen athletes represent the college itself. Winning teams make for a winning spirit.

The practical side of these aspects can be measured in enrollment and community interest. Peter Stevens, director of admissions, said athletics have a big effect on prospective students.

"Inquiries are constantly made by applicants about the size and nature of our sports program. There has been a favorable impact on Daemen enrollment due to this program's expansion.

"Many students have chosen our college strictly because of the balance between academics and athletics here. As athletics continue to expand at Daemen, it can only help our admissions effort," he said.

Daemen is strong academically. All persons involved must ask themselves if they are making a strong commitment to other student needs.

The need for quality athletics is clear. Daemen has improved a great deal, is it reaching its full potential in this uncharted area?
CHILDREN’S CHRISTMAS PARTY A GLOWING SUCCESS!!

The Daemen College Alumni Association sponsored its Annual Children’s Christmas Party this past December 17, 1978, at the Wick Campus Center, in Schenck Lounge.

Over 200 alumni and their children came back to campus to celebrate the season. The fun began with Santa’s Elves and Sr. Chris Dienstbey leading a Carol Sing-a-long! Parents, children and guests joined in front of a blazing fire and the songs rang out through the entire building.

Magician David de Jac provided a most professional and entertaining display of his magical talents, appealing to adults and children alike, since looks of astonishment were noticed on many of the “bigger children’s” faces. Santa Claus (Bob Hausrath) appeared with holiday favors for every child and didn’t leave until each child had a minute or two on his knee. Once Santa’s line formed, many elected to enjoy some refreshments with their children in the adjoining Rathskellar while waiting for their turn.

The Board of Governors’ President, Marguerite J. Battaglia, ’67, found some time for a little association business, by conducting the first three drawings for the 1978-79 Split Club. This was facilitated by three willing volunteers from the audience.

The event was very well planned and organized by Chairman Bobby Maloney Huber, ’66, who is also a member of Daemen College’s Alumni Association Board of Governors.

The Split Club Chairman 1978-79, Patricia Pepe Schnitter, ’67, reports a most successful drive to recruit Split Club members. This year, we have 100 members whose dues will benefit the Alumni Scholarship Fund. It is wise to join early, though, because there were several individuals who sent their dues in after the deadline, and were unable to participate this year. BOARD OF GOVERNORS OFFERS INVESTMENT SEMINAR TO ALUMNI AND COMMUNITY!

Kay Zimmerman Radford, ’66, Chairman of the Seminar, and her committee have recruited a panel of experts in various facets of money management and investments which will give advice on how people can better themselves financially, be more secure, and plan transactions with an eye to what is needed and wanted.

The event is a service provided primarily for Daemen College Alumni, but it is also open to the community at large. It will be held on Monday, March 12, 1979 at 7:00 P.M. in the Wick Campus Center, 4380 Main Street, Amherst.
Sandra K. Masterson, Chairman for 1978-79 Alumni Phonothon reports a very successful KICK-OFF held this past November 4th and 5th. Extra effort is being made this year to include individuals who have not previously made a pledge; as the success of any campaign is dependent upon a large percentage of participation, regardless of gift size.

The theme for this year’s campaign, named the Alumni Loyalty Fund, stems from the unanimous decision made by the Board of Governors to target Rosary Hall as the major recipient of Alumni support this year. Rosary Hall is the oldest building on campus, rich with tradition and as Daemen grows older, it will become a legacy, a tribute to our humble beginning. The building needs $30,000 to be totally restored, so it will be imperative to have every Alumni participate in the project.

The Alumni Board, because of the nature of the cause and its link to the heritage of Daemen College, will be working to contact every Alumni for the purpose of securing pledges.

A series of mini-Phonothons will be conducted between now and June 30th, right from the Daemen College Campus. For those of you who cannot be reached by phone, a mail campaign is being planned. This way, everyone will have an opportunity to participate in what will prove to be one of the most successful fund drives in the history of the College. (The Board of Governors also extends an open invitation to any additional alumni or friends of Daemen College who may want to help in the campaign). Several students and members of the faculty and administration have already expressed an interest to assist in the effort.

CLASS NEWS

Doreen McCormick Cutting, ’60, is having a solo show of scenes of Buffalo Harbor and Grain Elevators at the Buffalo Convention Center’s Arts Alive Gallery beginning February 17, 1979 for two weeks. She has displayed her work at many of the area shows and recently won two awards at the AAO Gallery Shows. She has done some commissioned through agents on the West Coast, Kansas City and in Palm Beach. In the past, she taught a course in Interior Design at Erie Community College.

Mary Koziak Strubing, ’63, of Forest Park, GA is presently working as a crewleader with the U.S. Department of Commerce - Bureau of Census. She is an active member of the Cursillo Movement. She and her husband lecture as a couple at Sunday Mass.

Anne Steffan Gunderman, ’63, received her Master’s degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo with a major in painting and a minor in Museum Studies, taken under the curators of the Albright-Knox Art Gallery. Besides a husband and four children, Anne manages her own Art Studio and private gallery, as well.

Patricia Smolinski Durham, ’63, now has two children, Ian Thomas, age 4%, and Maggie Eliza, age 11 months. In addition, Pat has been designing sets and costumes for her husband’s dramatic and musical productions at Iroquois Central High School in Elma, N. Y.

Sally Gleason Goodson, ’65, of Nutley, N. J., has been actively serving her community for at least 10 years, in several different capacities. In 1978, Sally was chairman of the “Nutley Sun” Christmas Appeal. In 1977, she was Region II Chairman of the Suburban Division for the United Way of Essex, West Hudson, and Nutley, N. J. She has spent nine years on the Board of Directors of the Nutley Family Service Bureau, and at one point, served as President. She was also President of the Women’s Auxiliary of the Community Mental Health Clinic in Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield, N. J. She has also served on the Nutley Community Service Council for over 10 years. In 1977, Sally was appointed by their mayor to “chair” United Nations Day. She currently sits on the Women’s campaign Committee, which works to elect qualified women to the town’s school board. Sally is also Education Chairman of the American Association of University Women.

Pat Lace Cassell, ’65, and her husband, Doug have been very involved in sailing and the local Yacht Club for years. He is the present Commodore and she is the Trophy Chairman. She makes about 90 of the 190 trophies presented annually. This past season, Pat beat 8 other “men” champions for the local 470 Championship. Pat is also actively involved in the local school system where her children Kim and Kevin attend school. She is presently President of the Community School Association.

Jo Anne Bakeman Cocciole, ’66, wrote the Response to tell us that their adopted Korean daughter, Carrie Lee (4 years) became a U.S. citizen this past September. Last August Jo Anne received an MS in Health Education from SUNY at Cortland. In addition, Jo Anne’s family spent the week of Thanksgiving with Kathy Lagowski, ’66, and her family at their home in Teaneck, N. J. They all had a wonderful time watching Macy’s Thanksgiving Day Parade, 1978. The Glowski’s now have four children, the youngest being born in December 1977.

The results of a chain letter initiated by Sandy Kreuter Masterson last June for members of the Class of ’67, brought the following information to the attention of the Response:

- Eileen Michaels Wende now has two bby’s, one nearly two and the oldest has recently turned three. Eileen works full time teaching students with learning disabilities and spends the remaining hours of the day as a mother, wife and teacher advocate.

- Sharon Dennis Witse, ’72, of Watertown, N. Y., has received a Master of Science in Art Education from Syracuse University in 1977. Sharon is a substitute art teacher for the Watertown and South Jefferson School Districts.

- Wendy M. Pfeifer, ’73, has received a Master of Science in Elementary Education - Early Childhood - from Syracuse University and has been teaching in the East Syracuse Minoa School District for six years.

- Patricia Feger Kerwin, ’73, is experiencing quite a change teaching seventh grade English in Cheektowaga, after spending five years teaching second grade. Patricia received her MS from Canisius College in 1975 but this past summer she extended her degree to include English 7 - 9th.

- Christine A. Mitrowski, ’74, is a 1977 graduate of the School of Social Work at the University of Buffalo and has been on the faculty of D’Youville College. Christine is presently a medical social worker at Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

- Congrats to Gisele Edgerly Thornton, ’75, who has recently been elected Secretary of the Northeast Ohio Medical Record Association. Gisele is an instructor of Medical Record Technology at Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland, Ohio.

Alumni Admissions Program

"RECOMMEND A FRIEND"

All of us at one time or another come in contact with college age students looking for advice on a college offering "just the right things." "A small college, a friendly college, a place where you are more than a number" are just a few of the characteristics mentioned.

As alumni who know of the friendly close associations gained at Daemen College, our advice many times leads to a referral of Daemen College.

But, unfortunately, sometimes names and places become forgotten and your friends or relatives don’t have an opportunity to send away for current literature and publications about Daemen College.

As a result we have instituted a "Recommend a Friend" application listed below which will help you forward information to a friend or relative.

Each student referred to the Admissions Office will be sent an official College Catalog as well as information outlining a specific area or major.

And besides, Daemen College will send information to your friends in your name! You’ll have an opportunity to show your thoughtfulness, and they’ll welcome your help.

Just complete the application below and forward at your earliest convenience. A follow up mailing will be sent within approximately two weeks.
